Complete U. S. Weather Bureau in Sierra Madre Puts City "On the Map"

Temperatures And Prognostications Go Forth To World
In Official Tables — Col. Hersey Tells How Bureau Started Here

By Harry Burke

Col. H. B. Hersey

Enthroned on the top of Sierra Madre, where he belongs, with a vista East, South and West over San Gabriel Valley, a stone's throw from Scenic Point, the world's famous Wistaria vine his next door neighbor and creeping on to soon call him brother, Col. H. B. Hersey, America's foremost weather prophet, is counting the perfect days to one year hence from July, when he will terminate 48-years of service with the United States government and retire in the retrospect of a career unmatched in merit as well as time.

Col. Hersey has put Sierra Madre "on the map"—literally, practically, materially—by making it a United States Weather Station, a privilege enjoyed by no city its size in America, and the envy of every small city in Southern California.

It Goes "On the Map"

Each morning he compiles the data and carries it to Los Angeles to take its place on the weather map, and go out in table form to every news distributing agency, and so to every daily newspaper. Sierra Madre gets the most prominent place in the table too, because of its favored spot in the alphabet. The "S" in Sierra puts it near the bottom of the list, where it stands out like a beacon.

Beverly Hills and a score of other cities in the Southern district. They have all been after Col. Hersey—pulled wires from here to Washington—urging him to include them in the coveted list, offered to pay for the establishment of a station, equipment, etc., supply phone and what-not, all fully mindful of the advertising value.

Col. Hersey is sold on Sierra Madre. That is why he built his home here three years ago, and that is why he looks forward to the time fifteen months away when he will lay aside the harness of the strenuous life and take up the tools of contentment in his beautiful garden for the joyous passage over the final trail of the journey's end.

"After having visited many countries from the tropics to more than a thousand miles inside the Arctic circle, I selected Sierra Madre as having the climate I like best of all," he said in the Wistaria Special Edition of THE NEWS.

He Is Still Young

Col. Hersey will not retire because he is getting old. His mind is as young as it was the day he left college and hurried to Washington to enter the Federal service, nearly 47 years ago. He will retire at 70, the age fixed by law. During President Coolidge's term a bill passed Congress fixing the retirement age at 64. The bill reached Mr. Coolidge the day he was brushing up his last summer's straw hat, and he put it on the shelf.

Few men have reached the rocking chair and slipper stage with more accomplishment behind them. Col. Hersey served his country in two wars.

"I was in Texas when the Spanish war started," he said. "They had made me adjutant-general of the State militia. We contributed nearly half the men to Col. Roosevelt's Rough Riders and I went with them as Major. I am the only field officer of that famous regiment left."

"I was in the Caribbean when the World War started, trying to solve the hurricanes as they affected the Panama canal when I was ordered home and assigned to the War Department. I was sent back to Texas to take charge of a balloon unit. In 1906 I had made some progress with balloons. In company with Brigadier General Frank P. Lahm, then a lieutenant, I won the James Gordon Bennett cup in Paris. I also had established the record for the greatest number of flights in a given period."

Went To the Arctic
"I was a little bit younger in those days and I had gone in for balloons with enthusiasm. When I reached Paris I joined the Aero Club and I was in the air nearly every day for a while. I didn't know I had made a record until they called my attention to it."

"Then Walter Wellman came along and decided to try and reach the North Pole with a dirigible. I was sent along with him as executive officer of the expedition. We took the dirigible in parts but we did not get to the pole."

Col. Hersey pointed to a monster rug—the skin of a polar bear. "I got that skin in the Arctic," he said. "That bear was about the biggest one we saw."

"Oh no, they are not vicious,"

he continued. "Why this grizzly here," pointing to a bear's skin, "had twice the fight in him and he was only half his size."

Col. Hersey's den is filled with trophies of his hunting skill.

"We started to get ready for the war without a single balloon," said Col. Hersey. "The only balloon in this country was a German make and it had been in storage so long it had rotted and was worthless. We realized the importance of balloons for artillery observation. Airplanes can locate enemy batteries but they cannot give the artillery units the range. The anchored balloons do that."

"We had so much work to do training men for the balloon service that I did not get over to France until five months before the Armistice. After the war I came home and got back in the weather service."

Col. Hersey stood on the crest of his estate and looked down over the slope of planted trees—all kinds of fruit trees. His three dogs gathered around him.

Dogs Like Young Folks

"Look at them," he said. "That old dog can't understand the way the youngsters act these days—just like human folks. He says, 'What is coming over young people nowadays the way they behave?' And he can't just understand it. That young bull terrier is just nine months old and he doesn't know any better. This older terrier knows better and she is always apologizing for the pup. You see—you see her nosing the old boy, telling him not to mind the youngster. She knows you just can't account for young folks nowadays."

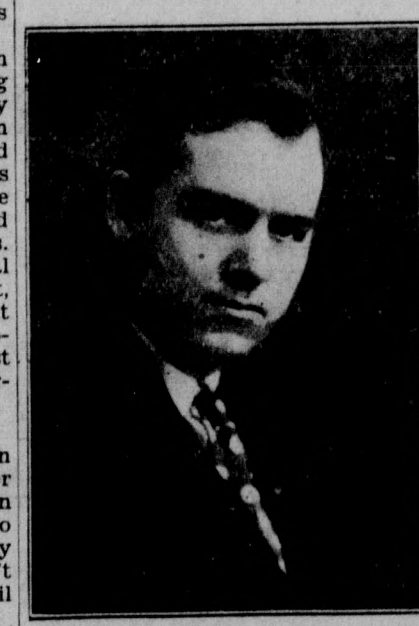

"But that is some youngster—I mean the pup," said the Colonel with the pride all dog lovers inspire. "He took first prize in his class in the Pasadena show and second prize for all classes of terriers."

The day was slipping away in the West. The young veteran looked out on the horizon. "Yes," he said, "this is where I will be busy after I'll retire—in the garden here and the orchard. I will really—really live. You know," he paused, "you know, I was raised on a farm." He said it with infinite tenderness, as if turning back the delicate fabric of a time-worn page. And he smiled.

Col. Hersey is still a farm boy—just a boy.

"HAIL THE VICTOR," AT BETHANY ON EASTER

Several delegations of Orangemen from the San Gabriel Valley, and one of 50 members from Los Angeles, together with B. R. Elkin, President of that organization, are to attend the Easter Sunday night services at Bethany Church, the choir of which will present the Cantata, "Hail The Victor," by Alfred Weeler. The choir will be directed by Roy F. Stevens, musical director of the church.

The solos will be sung by Mrs. Roy F. Stevens, soprano; Mrs. Richard Jensen, contralto; Howard Sutherland, bass; and Roy F. Stevens, tenor. The chorus is accompanied at the piano by Merrill Jensen, pianist.

Great Throngs at Fete As Closing Week Begins

Woman's Club and Firemen
Get Ready for Record
Weekend Crowds

With the famous Fennel vine at the peak of its beauty the eleventh annual Wistaria Fete being held under the auspices of the woman's club approaches the last week with greater throngs of visitors marking each succeeding day. During the last week delegations from the Woman's Clubs of Covina, Santa Paula, and a score of other Southern California towns, have been among the visitors.

Here, there and everywhere, explaining the luxuriant growth of the flowery bower, intermingled with roses of the Cherokee, Duchesse-Brabant and Gold of Ophir varieties, Mrs. John H. Robertson, president of the Woman's Club, has been active every moment of the day. For the first time Mrs. Robertson was able to lay aside the sling that held her fractured arm, an injury she sustained before the opening of the Fete, while engaged in putting the last touch to the decorations.

The volunteer firemen, in charge of the traffic and parking, are making preparations to handle a record crowd over Saturday and Sunday. They have taken care of an average of more than 600 cars a day the last week and their record of efficiency is still unbroken. So far there has not been a single accident or scratch to any car. The firemen handled 1,800 cars last Sunday. Before the week ends it is estimated that more than 20,000 visitors will see the vine during a period of seven days.

There is activity and interest at every hand, from the entrance to the exit, and the garden tours, piloted by the members of the Woman's Club and other local civic organizations, provide the outstanding features of the Fete. Thousands of strangers to Sierra Madre marvelled at the unmatched beauty of the prize gardens and homes this last week, and will carry Sierra Madre's fame to all parts of the world. So great has been the demand to see the gardens on the special days (Tuesdays and Fridays) of the piloted tours, that groups of cars had to be started out every half hour.

The register conducted by THE NEWS at the entrance to the Fennel estate shows names of visitors from every part of the world—Asia, Africa, Alaska, South America, Canada, Europe, besides every state and most every city in the United States. And most of those who register obtain copies of the special Rotogravure edition of THE NEWS for mailing to their home folks. Thus Sierra Madre, and its beautiful homes and flowers, will be seen in every spot on the globe.

There is a demand for autographed copies of books by Sierra Madre authors—Lee Shippey, Mary Ward, Florence Eakman, also for the songs of Oscar Rasbach. Carolyn Webster's pottery, which won a prize at the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, is attracting attention, as is also E. Waldo Ward's marmalades.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Conard keep the booths replenished daily with baskets of flowers from their garden, including lilies, Martha Washington geraniums, weigelas, iris, tulips and watonias.

Luncheons are served daily by Mrs. William Lees and her corps of assistants. Tens are in charge of Mrs. Ethel Davis; Mrs. F. B. Chamberlain has charge of candies; Mrs. Nestor Young, jams and marmalades; and Mrs. Ralph Solury the perfumes.

Mrs. Philip W. Senour is chairman of hospitality; Mrs. A. A. Halsey, in charge of the garden tours, garden and community, and Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Conard are in charge of flowers for tables and marquee. L. R. Goshorn, Lee Shippey and Miss Laura E. Cadmus make up the committee on publicity, and Mrs. Fred Griebner is in charge of the postal cards and views of Sierra Madre.

Mrs. William Lees, chairman of the luncheons, is responsible for the delicious and varying daily menus which make the daily luncheons so popular. She has been assisted by Mrs. Philip Senour, Mrs. J. N. Hawks, Miss Virginia Reoss, Mrs. M. McBurney, Mrs. W. R. Humphries, Mrs. W. E. Walker, Mrs. W. D. Richards, Mrs. H. H. Holland, Mrs. J. M. Campbell, Mrs. Wm. Murphy, Mrs. R. M. Finlayson, Mrs. John Fitzgerald.

Mrs. N. J. Hudson of Pasadena and Mrs. Chas. A. Cover, Hollywood, were tea guests Monday of Mrs. J. M. Campbell at the Fete. Mrs. Cover was a former resident of Sierra Madre and hopes to return here to live again, because it is so charming, she says.

On Thursday the Modern Priscillas complimented Miss Lydia Webster and Miss Edna Green with a tea under the Vine. Miss Webster is taking a trip to Honolulu and Miss Green will leave for a tour of Europe in May.

Among the other visitors at the Vine Thursday were Doris Goshorn, Dorothy McNamany, Aileen Day, Celia and Mary Stiehl.

Commander Roy Pickett, of the American Legion, will head a committee to act as hosts at the Wistaria Fete on Sunday. Neighboring towns will all have representatives.

Miss Trevers, of the Wilmore Hotel, Long Beach, chartered a Pacific Electric bus and brought 30 guests to the Wistaria Fete Thursday. She visits the Fete every year.

Wednesday the Covina Woman's club, with more than 50 members, had one o'clock luncheon at the Wistaria vine. Mrs. A. A. Halsey conducted a special garden tour for them at 11:30 and led orange juice was served to them in Miss Graham's charming Italian villa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Robertson has as special guests at the Wistaria Fete Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Buell and Mrs. Buell's sister, Miss Katherine McClung. Dr. Buell is a graduate and trustee of Occidental College.

Easter Greetings

Our Lord is Risen,
Hail to the King,
Hosts of Angels
His praises sing
Thru the courts of Heaven
Sweet music rings
When angel fingers
Touch the strings.
Greetings to you
This Easter Morn
May the sun's bright rays
For you adorn
The mountain summit
And landscape bright.
May angel fingers
Point the way
That leads to God
This Easter Day!

(The spirit of Easter expressed above in copper plate etching and appropriate verse are both from the hand of one of Sierra Madre's many very wonderfully interesting people—Miss Lulu A. Barker, of 30 West Laurel Avenue, — your neighbor.)

Easter Song At Sunrise Service Here

Lighted Cross Gleaming on Inspiration Point During Past Week

Easter sunrise services will be held this year all over Southern California. Services in the Hollywood Bowl and Mt. Rubidoux will gather great crowds, but all the smaller communities will conduct their own.

Gleaming white on Inspiration Point, above Canyon Park, a lighted cross has marked the spot every night this week where Sierra Madreams will hold their community sunrise Easter service on Sunday morning. The services will be sponsored by the Canyon Park Improvement Association, and conducted by Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard, pastor of the Congregational Church. They will begin at 5:30 A. M. All churches and organizations of Sierra Madre have been invited to participate.

Mrs. Myrtle G. Hill, director of the choir at the Congregational Church, will preside at the organ. The program is as follows: Cornet solo, "The Palms"; Miss Bernice Lindgren; Hymn, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today"; Invocation; Baritone solo, "Easter Dawn"; B. W. Bailey; Scripture; Hymn, "Christ Arose"; Prayer; Soprano solo, "Hosanna"; Laura Estelle Cadmus; Sermon, Rev. Pritchard; Hymn, "Crown Him"; Benediction.

A special sunrise service to be conducted by Bethany Church, will be held at Scenic Point. Rev. William Ogg will have charge and the Bethany choir will provide the music.

For the third year Monrovia and Arcadia will join on Mt. Oakwood for their sunrise service. Dr. F. P. Woelner, of the University of California at Los Angeles, will deliver the message. Harold Proctor, of Pasadena, will be the soloist of the musical program. The Arcadia community choir will have the addition of singers from the Baptist Church, Monrovia. A feature will be the playing of "The Palms," by William Eller and Bruce Bryant, cornetists. The electric cross on Mt. Oakwood has been lighted all week.

MONROVIA PLANS EGG HUNT FOR CHILDREN

The Monrovia kiddies will have a merry time tomorrow when an Easter egg hunt will be held under the auspices of the Monrovia News-Post. Children from everywhere will be welcome, the ages being confined to one to eight years. The hunt will be staged in Library Park, downtown, at 1:30 p. m. Live bunnies and other prizes will be distributed.

LOCALS LOSE TO MONROVIA

In the first game of the series of the Snooker Tournament between Monrovia and Sierra Madre played in the former city on Thursday, April 10, Monrovia won after a closely contested battle. The Sierra Madre team was composed of Bus Perry, M. Hays and Cliff Gala, while Monrovia was represented by Ernest Rag, Parker Wilson and Walter Macy.

City Casts Largest Vote In Re-Election Of Three Members Of City Council

Out Of 1,560 Registered 1,366 Voters Turn Out And Give Two To One Victory To Present Officials

Sierra Madre cast the largest vote in its history at last Monday's municipal election, when a total of 1,366 votes were cast out of a registration of 1,560 eligibles. The three sitting Councilmen who came before the electorate—Henry Clay Reavis, William R. Lees and Lester K. Layton—were re-elected by considerably better than a two to one vote over their adversaries, former Councilmen Henry E. Isaacs, Joseph Belohlavek and George F. Blakeslee.

City Clerk Elmer Green, seeking election defeated V. S. Vaupel, his opponent, by a vote of 918 to 350.

The vote by election districts follows:

COUNCILMEN
	East	West	Total
Layton	352	541	893
Lees	363	545	908
Reavis	364	557	921
Bolohlavek	184	256	440
Blakeslee	170	241	411
Isaacs	191	254	445

CLERK

Green	369	549	918
Vaupel	148	212	350

Not only was the total vote cast higher than ever before, but the percentage of eligibles participating was considerably larger. The highest previous record was established in the hotly and more spectacularly conducted recall contest of 1929, when 1,288 citizens went to the polls out of a registration of 1,731. In the Hoover-Smith Presidential contest 973 votes were cast. In the school bond election last December, when the new school building was authorized, 1,056 ballots were recorded. In the school board election of last month, when Mrs. Cecily Allen was opposed for re-election, 431 citizens gave her a vote of confidence.

In the recall election of ten months ago 497 citizens opposed the recall of Henry Isaacs from the City Council and 755 voted "yes." At the same time the recall of Mr. Belohlavek was opposed by 499 and supported by 771. None of the other candidates in the most recent election figured in the former event.

As in the memorable Councilmanic battle of less than a year ago, the lines were drawn last Monday between two states of candidates. More than 1,700 persons were on the registration lists then, however.

Yesterday the victors and the vanquished expressed their appreciation to their supporters in statements that appear elsewhere in this issue of THE NEWS, the re-elected Councilmen renewing their pre-election pledges to carry on a business-like, economical and efficient administration and the defeated candidates wishing them success in their undertakings.

In the last 48 hours of its duration the campaign thus peacefully ended waxed warm and reached its height last Sunday when the rival headquarters on either side of Central Avenue, in the downtown district, swarmed with interested partisans and both sides started an intensive drive to get their supporters to the polls. There was no let-down in this effort until the polls closed Monday night and interested townsfolk besieged the polling places until the votes were counted.

The vote will be canvassed at a meeting of Council on Monday night.

Parade And Party For Legion Visitors In City Tonight

Sierra Madre Post No. 297 American Legion will be host to the eighteenth district in a meeting to be held in the City Hall. A parade is scheduled and it is planned to have the Drum and Bugle Corps from the Alhambra Post add to the festivities. Featuring the program will be the introduction of city officials and leaders of civic organizations.

The local Post has just gone over the top with six new members: J. A. Irvine, H. C. Scott, Augusta M. Coats, nurse; Frederick G. Wesley, G. H. Bowley and A. A. Gutierrez. These additions boost the membership to 60.

CENSUS TAKER FINDS 100% AMERICAN HERE

"The other day I found the 100 per cent American of Sierra Madre," said Mary Heimes, census taker of this city. "She is a pure-blood Indian. The rest of us really haven't a right to be called American the way she has."

"The response to my request in last week's NEWS was very gratifying. Several new residents were reported and a wonderful spirit of cooperation was shown. The census is officially over but it will take some time to compile the results. From them we ought to get some interesting facts about Sierra Madre."

SIERRA MADRE HONORED

Sierra Madre and its bank were signally honored at the monthly meeting of the Citrus Belt Bankers' Association, at Claremont, last Friday night, when H. E. Allen, President of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank was unanimously elected president of the organization for the ensuing year.

Mr. O. Kelly, of the Panama branch of the Bank of Italy, was chosen Vice-President and Mr. Stubbs, of Monrovia, Secretary.

"BOY" KILLED IN STREET

"Boy" is dead—run over on Central near Hermosa Wednesday morning while he was starting a morning frolic with his devoted master, Junior Young.

There will be a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association next Wednesday at the school.

Learn How To Improve The Schools

Object of Nation-wide Observation — Wilson Program

"Public Schools Week to be observed beginning April 21 will not alone help interpret the schools to the people, but will afford the voters of the State an opportunity of obtaining valuable information concerning some important problems relating to public education confronting the people of California," says Joseph Marr Gwinn in a letter addressed to the 40,000 members of the California Teachers' Association in which he urges co-operation between the teachers and school officials of the State and the general public in making the observation even more successful than last year.

The coming celebration will be the eleventh annual event of its kind in California. In his letter to the teachers President Gwinn adds:

"In order that the home and the schools and the community generally may cooperate for a better education for the children, it is necessary that the new methods of teaching and managing children and the modern program of studies and ends of education should be understood by all.

Means Cooperation

"If the schools are aiming in the right direction, and using the right materials and methods, this better understanding on the part of the parents and general public will greatly aid the program of modern education.

"If some of the ways and means employed by the schools are not what they should be, this better understanding will help the schools to make the necessary readjustments."

Extensive plans have been made for the observance of School Week at Woodrow Wilson Junior High School. An exhibit of school work on April 23 from one to four in the afternoon and from seven to eight at night, will be one of the school's outstanding contributions to the educational program and will enable parents and friends to observe first hand the outcome of students' activities.

The different departments entering exhibits and their chairman are as follows: Industrial Arts, H. J. Paul; Home Economics, Miss Mary Oliver; English, Miss Pauline Handy; Social Science, Miss L. W. Graves; Commercial Work, A. C. Woolnough; Mathematics, Miss Anna L. Davis; Languages, Miss Alice Morrison; Art, Miss Elva Lee; Biology and General Science, Mrs. M. L. Janoch.

Urges San Gabriel Valley Councils To Tell All The World

M. Penn Phillips, president of Phillips and Hambaugh, Los Angeles, who lives at 631 East Live Oak, Sierra Madre, spoke at a conference of San Gabriel boosters at Monrovia.

"Every city official in any community of the San Gabriel Valley should feel the importance of a broad-gauged movement to promote the physical needs of the region and to advertise it to the rest of California and the world," he said. "This Valley contains sixteen thriving incorporated cities, and six unincorporated communities. If they got together they could produce expanded business activity at a minimum cost to each community and to each individual property owner."

Fewer Women Reach Old Age Than They Did Ten Years Ago

Women now have less chance of living to old age than they had ten years ago, says Dorothy G. Wiehl, of the Milbank Memorial Fund's research staff, who made a study of deaths among adults from 1927 to 1927. "Striking changes in the death rates among men and women of different ages occurred during this short period," said Miss Wiehl. "At every age the change is more favorable for females than for males. At ages 45 to 54, the increase for males was 13.5 per cent, compared with an increase of 2.5 per cent for females. In the age group 55 to 74, the increase in deaths of men exceeded that of women by 320 per 100,000. The death toll for men exceeded the death toll for women in each of the causes studied, except diabetes."

A spring flower show, directed by Mrs. Anna Mary Magnuson. Basket arrangements, vases, and designs of all kinds will comprise the entries in this flower exhibit, the entries being made by the clubs, home rooms, organizations, and individuals of the school. Ribbons will be awarded the first, second, and third places in each class, and the first place of all entries.

At 2:30, a P. T. A. meeting will be held in the Gym, at which Miss Dorothy Shaw, pupil of Mrs. Grace Sayre, will sing and Mary Trautwein will play. There will be short talks by members of the administration.

The day's program will close with a concert given by the orchestra and Glee clubs, under the direction of Mr. Theodore R. Gundry and Mrs. Saidee Anderson Tungeim.

In Your Garden--Now

What To Plant — What To Do

By Jessie Ward
LANDSCAPE GARDENER

FLOWERING SHRUBS AT WISTARIA TIME

ONE of the most striking features about the Wistaria is that it puts up such a show of color when there are so few other blooming plants in the garden. However there are a few shrubs that come out in their glory at this season of the year and their beauty complements the soft wistaria shade and makes it all the more enjoyable.

The mass of snowy-white blossoms of the Spirea or Bridal-wreaths will be seen now; the single variety, Spirea Van Houttei and the double one, Spirea Reevesiana. At a distance, they look alike, but close up the individual blossoms which cover the long sprays by the millions are either double or single. The double ones look like miniature roses.

Another splendid white flowering shrub is the Fabiana. It is a tall, slender shrub with spikes of tubular-shaped flowers. The foliage is small and the whole appearance of the shrub resembles a white heather.

The white, delicate, star-like flowers of the Diosma or Breath-of-Heaven are beautiful now. No garden should be without this delightful shrub. The foliage is as fragrant as the finest perfumes. Whenever you go near this shrub you will want to break off some foliage and crush it in your hand, even brushing against the shrub will cause the air to become slightly perfumed. The small flowers are splendid for mixing in bouquets.

The Tamarix is a large, weeping shrub with long sprays of feathery, pale pink blossoms which gives it a soft, misty appearance.

One of the most colorful shrubs or small trees is the Double Flowering Peach. It comes in several shades of red, pink, variegated, and white. Some varieties bloom a few weeks earlier than others. If one has room for several of these they can have bloom over a long season.

An old standby for color at this time of year is the Genista Fragrans, or Yellow Broom. It is so well known it will need little description. It will be known by its graceful sprays of yellow pea-shaped blossoms. A shrub that is sometimes mistaken for the Genista and is also blooming at this time is Coronilla Glauca. It also has pea-shaped blossoms on drooping sprays. It can be distinguished by its foliage which is decidedly bluish gray.

The dwarf flowering Almonds are attracting attention now. They never grow over four feet high and take little room in the garden. Their double pink flowers are splendid for bouquets.

Chorizanthe illicifolia, the blossoms of which resemble little pansies in bright orange and cerise colors, are still blooming although this is an all winter blooming plant and a very desirable one, too. The foliage is also attractive as it resembles eastern holly although much smaller.

(Editors Note — Each week Miss Ward will contribute timely suggestions for making Sierra Madre gardens more beautiful and interesting. Her advice will be along the line of things to be done in the way of planting and care at the time her articles appear, for the guidance of those interested.)

THE NEWS will be pleased to publish suggestions from other lovers of Yovers—of experiments they have successfully carried through, of exceptional results they have obtained; what seeds or plants may be most satisfactorily planted at the time of year the articles are written, etc. In a city where there are so many beautiful gardens and where the love of Yovers is so general we hope and believe this can be made a most successful department for the interchange of ideas. But please remember that, of necessity, all contributions must be made as short as possible.)

New "Divining Rod" Sure-Fire Locator Of Earth's Riches

Dr. Paul R. Heyl, who weighed the world, says his experiments of the pull of gravity will help as a scientific "divining rod" in locating oil and minerals beneath the earth's surface. Describing how minerals may be located, Mr. Heyl explained the pull of gravity varies because of the nature of the material under the earth. A large body of underground oil, lighter than the rest of the crust of the earth, would have a lesser gravitational pull, he said. Many wells have been so discovered, but greater precision of figures is necessary if the oil is deep in the ground, he pointed out. Mr. Heyl's measurements are made with an accurate pendulum.

FLOWERS AND CANDY FOR VETERANS FROM THE CHILDREN HERE

Disabled veterans of the World War will be made unusually happy Easter morning when they see blooming on their trays the gorgeous blossoms sent to them by the Sierra Madre Junior Red Cross.

The Junior Red Cross of Sierra Madre has made a notable record for itself in the past. This year, under the able direction of the school principal, Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, they have made over 500 tray favors which are to be distributed to the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle, the U. S. Veteran's Bureau Hospital at San Fernando, the War Department's Hospital at Whipple Barracks, Arizona, and to patients at the General Hospital in Los Angeles. The known bedridden of Sierra Madre are also to have this bit of cheer brought to them during the Easter season.

The favors are miniature Roman hyacinths, in rose, pink, lavender, blue, orange and yellow and the candies to fill the similarly colored cups, match the flowers.

The materials have been furnished by the school as a part of its curriculum. But the Junior Red Cross members, by saving their own pennies, have provided the purest candy obtainable and with the labor of their hands have seen to it that entire wards shall, like the deserts they are, blossom like the rose on Easter morning.

Yes, Woman's Brain Is Good As Man's, Doctor Declares

Dr. James W. Papez, of Cornell, who has measured the brains of many notables, says a woman's brain is as good as a man's. "There is nothing in the outer organization of the female brain," he says "which would make it much different or inferior to that of the male. Given the same opportunities and incentives, the intellectual attainments of women need not be inferior to those of men." He says the male brain averages seven per cent heavier and frequently larger, even in boy babies. But the brain area devoted chiefly to vision is better developed in women.

Century-old Visitor Sees Wistaria Vine As Guest Of City

Charles E. Harwood, of Upland, 99-years old, honorary trustee of Pomona College and the oldest living college graduate in America, was a visitor at the Vine on Tuesday, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Green. Mr. Harwood graduated from Williams College in 1852. City Clerk Green is also an alumnus of Williams.

Despite his century mark Mr. Harwood is still active and showed unusual vigor and enthusiasm in the presence of the bountiful Wistaria. Mr. Harwood recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he went to testify to the character and reputation of his friend and business associate, Edwin L. Doheny. "No experience in my long life brought as much happiness and joy," he said, "as when I heard the jury bring in a verdict of acquittal for my friend."

Mr. Harwood, whose short frame is bent, but whose eyes peer sharply from behind his gold-rimmed spectacles, was born in Burlington, Vt., October 19, 1830. He was one of the pioneers in the founding of Ontario, and later moved to Upland. He was associated with the Doheny for forty years in the oil business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Robertson Monday Mrs. Burdette Norton of Hollywood and party of ten, including Mrs. A. N. Allen, Hollywood; Mrs. L. A. Adams, Hollywood; Grandma Wakeman, Hollywood, and others, had luncheon under the vine and were later conducted on a special tour of the gardens by Mrs. A. A. Halsey. The group of ladies are all cooperating with Mr. Norton on the Easter sunrise service in the Hollywood Bowl, of which she is a director.

"Wistaria grows almost wild on our island and there is a vine in the outskirts of Kingston that our people have come to believe is the largest and finest one in the world, but it really seems an infant in comparison with this marvelous Fennel vine," said Miss Bernice deLeon, of Kingston, Jamaica, as she lunched with a group of friends under Sierra Madre's famed bower of loveliness on Sunday. "But I do believe," she added, "that the blooms of our wistaria are a bit more fragrant even though they are not as huge as those hanging over my head. Also the vines seem to yield a larger number of blooms. Like this magnificent thing, our most famous vine grows on a mountain side at an altitude I should say about a thousand feet higher than this one, on the estate of Jacques deLesseps, whose grandfather planted it more than 60 years ago.

NOTICE OF THE RECEPTION OF BIDS FOR THE PURCHASE OF CERTAIN STREET IMPROVEMENT BONDS.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An Act providing for the issuance of improvement bonds to represent certain special assessments for public improvements, and providing for the effect and enforcement of such bonds" approved April 27th, 1911, as amended, the Treasurer of the City of Sierra Madre, State of California, will up to eleven o'clock, A. M. of Saturday, the 3rd day of May, 1930, receive bids for the purchase of the following described street improvement bonds:

Said bonds bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from March 4th, 1930. Said bonds will be sold to the highest cash bidder and no bid will be considered if for less than par.

Hamilton Gubbins, a Southern Pacific railroad official, stationed at San Francisco, and Mrs. Gubbins, made a special trip down from the Bay City to participate in the Festival on Sunday and enjoyed immensely the sensation of a meal, served under the bower with wistaria blossoms dropping onto their table.

Woman's Club Notes

OWING to pressure of work at the Wistaria Fete and impossibility to obtain a quorum on Wednesday of last week, regular meeting day of the Woman's Club, the report of the nominating committee as prepared will be heard next Wednesday at the clubhouse.

At this time nominations will be received for each office from the floor, followed by the regular election by ballot for next year's officers. As no provision is made in the by-laws for a called meeting, any such meeting conducted before April 23 would be held illegal.

Ratification of this change will be necessary on that day before proceeding with business. This action legalizes all transactions, according to Mrs. Charles McKelvey, Los Angeles district federation vice president and district parliamentarian for eight years, who met in conference with Mrs. John H. Robertson, president of

COURAGEOUS BOY SAVES LIFE FROM A RATTLER

Richard Holmes, of 528 Concordia Court, Pasadena, was trailing a small animal through the deep grass on Arroyo Seco bank near Devil's Gate when a snake, believed to be a rattler, clamped its jaws on his finger. The boy opened his jackknife, cut into the wound and then tied a piece of rope tightly around his wrist. He hurried to the Pasadena Emergency hospital, where he was pronounced out of danger, and commended for his courage. Young Holmes is a student at McKinley Junior high school. He aspires to be a forest ranger.

FORD MOVES TO LONG BEACH

The Ford assembly plant, with 2,200 employees moved out of Los Angeles this week and started production in the new $5,000,000 plant at Long Beach, where it is expected the regular production of 320 cars daily will be reached. J. Milton Seiberger, local Ford dealer, has been advised that his deliveries in the future will come from the new plant.

the club here, during the session of the district convention in Glendale.

No special program will be arranged for next Wednesday. Bal-lots, which are being mailed to every voting member of the club this week, must be brought to the meeting for voting.

Continuing his story of culture through the ages, Dr. Frederick W. Roman reviewed Rousseau's "Emile" at his regular Forum conducted at the clubhouse on Monday night. Nature, man and things, the three sources from which education is derived, as advanced by Rousseau, were pointed out, with comparisons of ideas of present day education.

Qualifications of the successful teacher, rich in the harmonious, well balanced emotional life, with problems in teaching the child to acquire the proper attitudes of faith, hope and aspiration, were briefly touched upon. Postolozzi found the way to train boys and girls to obtain these attitudes, Dr. Roman said, when he demonstrated the importance and powers of collective educational training by taking large numbers of waifs, with whom he accomplished much in teaching reasonableness and loyalty.

Dr. Roman spoke of the beginning of the industrial school start-

Here Dr. Roman called attention to the idea first introduced in 1783 of a woman on the school board, and the teaching of singing, arithmetic and geography in the curriculum.

Luncheons at the Wistaria Fete will be discontinued after Sunday but sandwiches and coffee will be available for the convenience of visitors.

Dear Mr. Goshorn:
I wish to take this opportunity of congratulating you on your purchase of the Sierra Madre News and wish you every success in your new venture.

Prosperity and How

There is little comfort for the calamity howler and Commune propagandist in the almost unbelievable distribution of profits soon to be made among stockholders of American business enterprises.

Railroad, public utility, industrial, banks and other corporations will pay in dividends during April an amount expected to total $575,000,000. American Telephone and Telegraph will head the list with $30,329,921 to 469,000 stockholders. The Du Pont Company will distribute $15,508,000; General Electric $11,538,000 and Texas Corporation, $6,900,000.

Lest We Forget

Now that the campaign for the governorship is under way it is well to bear in mind a few interesting facts regarding Southern California's relation to the State and National Tickets. Northern California has had every governor but one in the last twenty-eight years, has both United States Senators and a majority of other National appointive and elective offices, in face of the fact that the South has 54 per cent of the State's population, pays 62 per cent of the cost of the State government, has 66 per cent of the State's wealth, and 62 per cent of the registered Republican vote.

New Angle Of Delinquent Girl Problem

Those In School And Of Good Families Are Greatest Concern

By Isabel F. Asbury

At an inspiring meeting of the missionary society at the Congregational church, Mrs. H. B. Hersey introduced her friend Captain Maude Lee, angel of mercy as she described her, the superintendent of the Woman's Home, formerly known as the Truevive home, of the Salvation Army in Los Angeles.

Captain Lee, a mite of a woman with large human understanding, feelingly told of the 67 unfortunate girls now being cared for in their hospital, the first unit of which cost $75,000, with a new unit recently added at a cost of $100,000.

Before the war these delinquent girls were largely from the streets, drunkenness and dope aiding in their condition, but now their age average has lowered and the school girl is the greatest problem, often from some of the finest homes in Southern California, she said.

Captain Lee attributes present conditions to broken homes, divorce, the unused time between school and night, automobiles, unsupervised time and lack of maternal confidence.

"The home is not only a hospital to care for the girls' physical needs, but a spiritual upbuilding as well, 50 per cent attending the weekly Bible class.

Mrs. E. E. Bacon appointed Mrs. Merrill, Mrs. Burbank and Mrs. Hull to attend the annual Missionary Society meeting of Southern California at Pasadena April 28th, 29th and 30th.

Mrs. J. M. Campbell, vice-president of the local Woman's Society and in charge of the missionary meetings, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Myrtle Hill, chairman of the day.

Miss Mae Fuller sang "Channel of Blessing," accompanied on the violin by Esther Hueffen and by Mrs. Myrtle Hill on the piano.

Mrs. John Lowe, of the Bethany Missionary Society, read the paper which won second prize in the contest for the Bible section of Southern California, on "Why I should own a Bible and know its contents."

Mr. Stovall, formerly scout master here, and his wife, now of Pasadena, greeted old friends. Reservations were made for 55 seated at long tables attractively set with low bowls of orchid and pink spring flowers, pink candles in crystal holders and garlands of green the length of the table.

How Aviation Advanced Here in Three Years
Twenty-eight hundred pilots examined and licensed, 1,675 mechanics and 1,075 planes inspected and pronounced fit, is the three years' record of the Los Angeles branch of the aeronautics bureau of the Department of Commerce. The bureau polices the air, too, and any pilot who violates the air traffic laws gets into serious trouble and loses his license. The record testifies to the great strides aviation has made in three years. One man and a shared telephone did all the work three years ago and now it takes eight men and one woman to handle the job.

The Friendship Club of the Congregational church will hold a cooked food sale Saturday.

The hard times party held Monday night was a gala affair and the costumes worn, mirth provoking. Minnie Stinman wore an empire style dress with an Abraham Lincoln shawl; Mrs. Ben Stinman a tan and black in basque effect and full skirt, fifty years old; Mrs. Roy Pickett, pink and blue in Mother Hubbard style of rattle; Mrs. W. L. Hibbs a black dress with a small, round old-fashioned hat which sat gleefully on top of her head. Many of the costumes were patched and of the "hard time" variety. It was a no host affair.

17 advantages of belonging to the Exchange

—every one spells higher citrus returns

CHECK through this list of services, facilities and advantages offered its members by the California Fruit Growers Exchange. Every one is important. Every one goes to work for your fruit as soon as you join the Exchange.

1. Sales Organization: Largest, most experienced and efficient of any citrus marketing agency, with 59 district offices and representatives in every important market.

2. Market News Service: Furnishing daily reports from all over the world, to all shippers, covering all factors that influence sales and prices. Supplying more complete information than any other citrus sales agency.

3. Large Volume: Handling 75% of the California crop, the Exchange is best able to regulate shipments and take advantage of every situation for its members' benefit.

4. Reputation: Careful grading, good pack, a square deal and 22 years of Sunkist advertising have built a reputation into Exchange fruit that no other brands enjoy.

5. Advertising: Powerful nation-wide advertising increases this reputation and expands the growers' markets every year.

6. Dealer Service: Last year, for example, Exchange dealer service men made 70,066 calls on wholesale and retail dealers, giving them practical aid in selling more Exchange fruit.

7. New Outlets: Among the most important developments in the continuous Exchange program of creating new markets, are the Sunkist Extractors, Senior and Junior, which have made orange juice the national drink, and the export market, which is being aggressively expanded as it has been for the last ten years.

8. By-products Plant: Selling otherwise unmarketable fruit.

9. Supply Company: Assuring growers of adequate box shoo and other supplies.

10. Field Department: Exchange experts available to all associations for working out packing and shipping problems.

11. Pest Control Bureau: Authorities on this subject at the service of all growers at all times. Reports on latest research also furnished.

12. Traffic Department: Traffic claims collected without cost to shippers; rate adjustments, etc.

13. Legal Department: Legislative and tariff adjustments, legal protection at all times.

14. Group Insurance: Big savings to growers both through Indemnity Compact, reducing fire insurance rates, and blanket policies covering workmen's compensation insurance.

15. Complete Grower Ownership and Control: No unnecessary profits or costs paid from returns. Every cent above actual operating cost returned to growers.

16. Low Cost of Service: Because costs are spread over such a large volume of business, the Exchange selling cost is less than that of any other citrus sales organization.

17. Higher Returns: Here is the final result of all the facilities and efficiencies listed above—the big result that sums up the whole story: Exchange Growers, year after year, average the highest returns for their fruit. No other method of marketing yet discovered has been able to get for growers, and keep on getting for them, dollars-and-cents results that the Exchange does. Let us show you comparative figures.

This is necessarily only a brief summary. Learn all the facts—exactly what the Exchange can do for you. Talk to your Exchange neighbors, the manager of your nearest District Exchange or Exchange Association—or write now for further information to Growers Service Bureau, California Fruit Growers Exchange, Box 530, Station "C" Los Angeles.

Oranges Sunkist Lemons Grapefruit

WHAT THE EXCHANGE IS: The California Fruit Growers Exchange is a non-profit organization of more than 22,000 California citrus fruit growers, producing over 75% of the California citrus crop, operated by and for them on a cooperative basis. Its object is to develop the national and international market for California Oranges, Lemons and Grapefruit, and to provide a marketing organization that will sell the fruit of its members most advantageously and at least expense. Receipts from sales, less only actual cost of operation, are returned to growers. Applications are received through all the Exchange's 209 local packing associations, 23 District Exchanges, or at the central offices in Los Angeles.

in the Valley

Manager H. E. McIntyre, of the Hemet Orange Growers Association, reports that the first carload of Hemet Valley Valencia oranges will be shipped this week. The last four cars of navelshipped from Hemet sold for as high as $8.65 a box.

The San Gabriel Chamber of Commerce special high school committee rejected the offer made by Alhambra of a junior high school if they would withdraw the proposal for separation from the Alhambra district. San Gabriel insists upon being a separate district with a high school of its own.

The La Puente Valley Walnut Growers' Association held its annual meeting in Puente, elected a board of directors and had a steak barbecue. W. R. Stanton, manager, reported 7,591 acres in the association, an increase of 211 acres over the year 1928, and 410 members, an increase of nine over last year. The crop marketed was 65.65 per cent buds and 43.35 seedlings.

The Duarte-Monrovia Fruit Exchange reports shipping 330 cars of navel oranges and 105 cars of lemons. The navel brought $4.35 f.o.b. Duarte or Monrovia, and the lemons $4.90 per product box. Last year the same exchange shipped 475 boxes of navel, which brought $2.55, and 105 cars of lemons, at $3.70 a box, which shows that although the crop was lighter this year the prices were higher.

E. H. Mitchell has been placed under contract by citrus growers in the Monrovia-Duarte district to dust some of the groves from the air with chemicals to eradicate fruit pests. Mitchell is making his headquarters at the Astor hotel, Monrovia, and is in daily conference with R. T. Radford who is representing the growers. The work is said to be unusually hazardous on account of wind breaks and wires.

The San Gabriel Protective Association for the conservation of water claims 90,000 acres out of the 150,000 of irrigable land in its membership and is urging Monrovia to join. A joint meeting of the Monrovia city council, directors of the Chamber of Commerce and heads of the Association was held to discuss the matter. President C. A. Griffith, of Azusa, announced that the Association proposed to fight to the last ditch Pasadena's contention that it had a right to the vagrant waters from the basin. The Monrovia acreage and Raymond Dike is 5,200 acres, according to Mayor A. J. Little.

Amos 'n Andy, probably the most famous radio entertainers, have signed a contract to make a talking motion picture and will get a million dollars. They will arrive in Hollywood in August, and begin work at the R. K. O. studio.

For the first time the voice of Pope Pius XI will be broadcast over the entire world from St. Peter's Cathedral, Rome, on June 29th, when he will give the Papal blessing through a microphone. An entire radio sending set will be installed at the Vatican, with a hookup extending to every quarter of the globe.

Rudolph Valentino, film shiek, left an estate worth $800,000, according to a report made by S. G. Ullman, the late star's manager and his executor. Among the items listed as charges against the estate Ullman specifies is one of $1,800 for police tips at the obsequies. Ullman says Valentino paid him $750 a week and asks the court to allow him $50,000 for his services as executor.

A giant airplane torpedo, the most appalling weapon of war ever devised, is being made in secret in England, according to the Daily Mail. It will operate without a crew, its course directed by a clock, its hull merely a receptacle for bombs. The clock is set at a certain time and when it stops the torpedo and its death-dealing explosives crashes to earth.

Lord Dewar, noted Scotch distiller and wit, and distinguished bachelor, died at the age of 64. Although head of one of the world's greatest whiskey producing companies, he was a non-drinker. Speaking of women, he said, "Love is an ocean of emotion surrounded by expenses. What a different world this would be if Eve had said to Adam 'Yes, we have no apples today'."

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, who won the Republican nomination for United States in the Illinois primary, sped to Washington to renew her activities as a member of the House. After an hour's conference with President Hoover, she said, "President Hoover and I are in perfect unanimity on every point of my Senatorial program except the League Court. On that we have agreed to disagree."

A dozen decades hence men may travel to the moon, says

Professor John O. Stewart, of Princeton. By 1950 a speed of 1,000 miles an hour will be possible, he told the members of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, and by 2050 man will have devised a means of traveling at the rate of 50,000 miles an hour, the speed necessary to make the trip to the moon. He described the possible ship as a sphere, bristling with cannon, propelled like a rocket.

Since the adoption of the new small-sized paper money more than $1,000,000,000 has been hidden, hoarded or lost, reports the United States Treasury, and probably hundreds of millions will never be found. On July 10, 1929, when the new money was issued the books showed $5,120,000,000 old-style money outstanding. The government began to retire this, and for a time the money-destroying vats worked night and day. On March 31st there was still $1,336,000,000 missing.

"The quenn's influence over the Prince of Wales has not been great enough to persuade him to take a wife," says Mrs. Charlotte Cavendish, wife of a British army officer, in her intimate book, "Biography of Her Majesty Queen Mary." "On every other subject the Prince has implicit faith in his mother's judgement," says Mrs. Cavendish. "Her majesty would like to see the Prince married with the prospect of an heir to the throne, but so far her efforts have been in vain."

Youth, the force that makes the world go round, is daily becoming scarcer, and another generation will bring an old man's world, Dr. Lorne Pruett told the New York State Association of Consulting Psychologists at New York University. The sharply decreasing birthrate will put youth at a premium in twenty-five years, he said, and bring about a grave unemployment situation. Those who suffer from an inferiority complex because they are growing old are as good as done for, he said.

One man's objections on a point of parliamentary procedure defeated in the New York legislature a bill memorializing Congress to call a constitutional convention to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment. The bill passed the Assembly and was taken to the Senate where it was promptly reported favorably out of committee. The measure could not, however, come up before the Senate for vote excepting by unanimous consent. Senator Brown, a Republican, objected, and the bill went back to the committee where it remained for three days, or after the adjournment of the Assembly.

The University of Pennsylvania museum expedition at Maydum, Egypt, has uncovered a mummy, wearing amulets and jewelry, that had ben undisturbed for 4,000 years and named "Sat-Herem-Hat." A scarab found in the coffin bore the name "Hat-em-Hat, the elder," probably a relative.

The National Geographic Society announces that Craibi, Arizona, is the oldest inhabited community in the United States. It is an Indian village north of Winslow and has been in existence since 1370, more than a century before Columbus discovered America. The fact was disclosed by a recent expedition sponsored by the society.

"I came back to have a good laugh," said Clarence Darrow, returning from Europe. "America is a three-ringed circus with 120,000,000 performers at which Europe is more amused than ever." When reference was made to his debate on prohibition with Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, Darrow said, "Brookhart is sincere, but its too bad he isn't civilized."

A new link between the living and the lifeless is behind a discovery made in the laboratory of the University of California. Just by chance they came across an "artificial bacillus" that closely resembles the living cell in size and shape, and which has stirred "fascinating speculations." It was found while examining a substance made from seaweed, used for culture.

A new process for extracting radium that will make possible large scale production and lower cost, was announced by the Mar-Jones Mines Company, of San Francisco. Radium at present is valued at $65,000 a gram. The new process will enable production in competition with the Belgian-controlled African ores.

Monte Carlo, for years famous for its gambling Casino, is at the point of disaster. The shares have dropped in a year from 13,000 francs to 7,000. Patrons are so scarce that the "no smoking" sign has been taken down. Lean days are causing dismay to the people of the small principality, Monaco. The Casino has left them free of taxation.

Former Secretary of the Navy

Daniels, in his paper, The Raleigh News and Observer, demands that John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National committee, resign and pay off the deficit of the party. He says Raskob was more interested in destroying prohibition than in the Democratic party. "No campaign," he writes, "had such costly and unnecessary frills as that of 1928. He adopted them. He should pay for them."

Dr. William Henry Welch of Johns Hopkins University, known as the "dean of American medicine," was honored with an international celebration on the occasion of his eightieth birthday on April 8th. President Hoover was the chief speaker in Memorial Continental hall, and ceremonies were held simultaneously in London, Paris, Berlin, Leipzig, Tokio, Peking, Baltimore, New Haven, Cincinnati and New York.

Designed to combat the severest storms of the Atlantic, the largest Zeppelin capable of crossing the ocean in 80 hours, is under construction at Friedrichshaven, Germany. It will use helium gas, be driven by eight 600-horsepower motors and carry 20 passengers and crew. The new air-liner is the first of the ships to be delivered by Dr. Hugo Eckener, who is now in New York, under contract made by him with the National City bank interests. "When I left Washington I left public office," says Calvin Coolidge in his latest contribution to magazine literature. "It is an incomprehensible relief that I have no intention of returning to it. If I were in the Senate it would probably be embarrassing to the administration to have a former president exercising political power. Only the necessity of serving in some National crisis would warrant it. Nor have I any sympathy with those discussing again making me president. The service I could give to the people in that office I feel is done."

Members of the Illinois Women's Athletic Club are stirred over a painting of Adam and Eve hung in the Chicago clubrooms. The picture is by Miss Valentine Vogel, of St. Louis, and is supposed to represent the awakening of womanhood. The sole attire is a hair ribbon on Eve. It shows the first man and woman in red silhouette against a green sky. Some members want the picture banished, others demand that it stay, and the artist, who is 24, says that if her picture is ruled out half of the pictures in the Art Institute ought to be ruled out also.

The undersigned members of the City Administration, deeply grateful for the fine vote of confidence registered by the citizens of Sierra Madre at the polls last Monday, are desirous of giving this public expression to their keen appreciation of the approval thus indicated.
